Issue

Parking spaces are a valuable commodity both in terms of attracting customers and generating revenue. A well designed and constructed multi-story car park (MSCP) improves customer's experience and maximises available parking space.

However they are often in logistically challenging locations adjacent to rail infrastructure and busy public areas. How can we deliver a great multi-storey parking facility whilst reducing the short term impact?

Solution

We offer a range of parking solutions to accommodate differing customer needs. Each one considers the customers whole life aspirations to provide the 'best fit' car park solution.

A proprietary system developed through our partner Siderpark is available as a cost effective and quick way to erect a permanent parking facility up to 3 levels high. The system is flexible and can also be used as a temporary structure to meet short term parking demand. It can then be dismantled and moved to a new location. This approach was taken by Great Western trains at Didcot Station to provide 151 temporary spaces during construction of their new MSCP – Case Study. Where this system is not appropriate we work with customers to develop a tailored MSCP solution.

Our design approach fully considers parking space maximisation within the building footprint and height restrictions. All in the context of personal safety, accessibility, sustainable vehicles, smooth entry and egress, aesthetics and crime prevention.

We have extensive experience of working adjacent to the railway and efficiently executing Network Rail's Outside Party requirements. By combining this expertise with modern methods of construction we develop well-considered solutions that satisfy car park users and are delivered with budget and time confidence.
